

CREEDE RECREATION CENTER

About the Area

CREEDE, CO

Population: 300

Even in Colorado, settings just don't get much more spectacular than Creede. Tucked into the San Juan Mountains, Creede is the smallest town AAI serves (with a winter population of just over 300 and a significant influx of tourists and part-time residents in the summer). The unique historic town offers a variety of interests, from a rich mining history, the nationally renowned Creede Repertory Theatre, Wheeler Geological Area, and the classic "everyone knows everyone" small-town experience.

What Members are Saying

- This person needs to be excited to connect with a very small town and ready to know every single person they see. It is an incredibly warm environment, but it is also a unique experience to be in such a close knit and remote environment.
- Someone who likes the outdoors and hiking or a homebody, who doesn't mind staying indoors during the winter, will enjoy living and serving in Creede.
- Best for someone who is outgoing with energy and an upbeat attitude. A very go-with-the-flow person. Someone who is very much into sports, physical activities, creative activities, crafting, and all types of games.
- Someone who is looking to have a positive impact on kids in a non-academic environment.
